THE GAS WORKS.—In the course of the discussion in the Board of Aldermen, on Tuesday night, in relation to the Gas Works, Mr. Worthington said, the accounts show $25,000 profit for sixteen months—the amount paid to the treasury was only $15,000. Now where did the other $10,000 go? The city was charged $9,965 and the Gas House for gas $226; was not the gas consumed at the Gas House, part of its expense; to the amount is added all outstanding bills due, but nothing is said of former outstanding bills which were paid. He presented a statement adding interest on investment which showed the corporation lost annually about $7,000 by the works.

Which was about the cost of lighting the city.

Mr. Simpson said there had been an error for years which it had been unable to account for, and had brought it forward from year to year, but the cost was about $125,000.

Mr. French was under the impression it cost $120,000.

Expenses 17,000

Profit $15,000

Net profit $12,000
He had consulted with the Superintendent and Clerk of Gas, and they had come to the conclusion that a reduction could be made to $2.80, and meet all the expenses of the Gas Company, and leave a revenue for the city, of about $5,900.

Mr. French did not know what its cost previous years, but the entire expense of running it this year, was $17,000; this from $32,000 would leave $15,000 and if a reduction of 20 per cent were made, it would pay the expenses, and interest and leave a balance. He believed it would benefit the entire corporation.

A LOTTERY MAN.—A man calling himself John H. Hart, representing himself as a mission and in needy circumstances, applied at the Mayor's office yesterday for, and was granted, permission to sell soap on the streets during that day. The Mayor was soon afterwards informed that he was conducting a lottery on the corner of King and Royal streets, and had been arrested. At his examination it was proved that he had small cakes of the common kind of brown soap covered with tin foil, which he sold for a dollar apiece, the purchaser being allowed to draw an envelope, which, if it contained a number corresponding to any on a card which was exhibited, would entitle him to the money, prize it called for—the prizes varying from $1 to $50 dollars. When taken up he had commenced an extensive business by giving two or three people $2 for the envelopes they drew, and returning the same unopened to the box from which they had been drawn. Among his victims was a policeman who had been induced to invest $10. The result of his trial was that his stock and apparatus were confiscated, the money he had returned to those from whom he received it, and he was escorted by an officer to the Washington boat, aboard of which he was put with instructions never again to be found in this city.

Witness described minutely General K.'s symptoms; in the judgment of witness Gen. K. was in continuous convulsions, clutching at intervals at his throat and stomach; shortly after 12:30 Mrs. Wharton stated to Mrs. Hutton that she had prepared General K.'s medicine, and at Mrs. Wharton's request witness administered the dose. Dr. Williams standing by, prepared a dose of yellow jessamine, such as he prescribed for Gen. K. Witness returning stated that the dose now prepared by Dr. Williams did not have a similar appearance to the dose prepared by Mrs. Wharton and administered by him to Gen. K. which had a thick, or cloudy color appearance, whereas the preparation before him was clear and transparent; forty additional drops were added to the preparation and it was still unlike that given to Gen. K.
